Stimulating Only For The Unions

As I read about the economic stimulus package passed not too long ago by Congress and signed by President Obama, I cannot help but notice something.

Most of the money is earmarked for public projects, such as roads, other infrastructure, etc. Many of those who would be employed to do this work would invariably be union members.

If we look at the Democratic Party and its supporters, many are members of unions. The same unions that have destroyed the auto industry, piled up incredible debt on cities and towns because of their outrageous sweetheart contracts, etc.

I do not see a stimulus for the non-union worker who cannot get a loan, or pay for his or her house, or food, heat, etc.
